Parents understand these kinds of battles. We recognize that our children will test our rules, and we are not surprised when they challenge us. They know they aren’t supposed to watch certain TV programs or stay out too late or use a disrespectful tone of voice. Yet they still do. This is not unlike the attitude we sometimes take with our heavenly Father. We know what is right and wrong, yet we test God. We know it’s wrong to speak disparagingly of others. We know it’s not right to neglect those in need. We know we should witness to our neighbor. We’ve sensed in our hearts the conviction of the Holy Spirit. We know that when the Lord returns we should be faithfully serving and obeying. How it pleases God when we act on what we already know.

“One step forward in obedience is worth years of study about it.”
