Tree Across the Ravine "...through [Christ] we have now received the reconciliation." Romans 5:11

In the mid 1950's, the world was shocked when five missionaries were killed by some Auca Indians in South America. They were trying to reach these primitive people with the gospel. Later, the tribe welcomes into their community the wife of one of the martyred missionaries and the sister of another, and translation work on the New Testament began.

Veteran missionary pilot Bob Griffin tells about the difficulty the translators had putting the work reconciled into the Auca language. They searched for an equivalent but found none. Then one day a translator was traveling through the jungle with some of the Aucas. They came to a narrow, deep ravine and the missionary thought they could go no farther. The Aucas, however, took their machetes and cut down a large tree so that it fell over the ravine, permitting them all to cross safely.

The translator, listening intently to the Aucas, discovered that they had a word for "tree across the ravine." This seemed to be the best way to express the meaning of the word reconciled.

The great "ravine" between sinful man and a holy God was bridged by Jesus Christ. He became man, lived in sinless life, and died for us. He reconciled us to God. He is our "tree across the ravine." – D.C.E.

"Christ was delivered for our sins that we might be delivered from our sins."
